The School of Fine Arts

The School of Fine Arts is part of the Centre for Fine Arts, Music and Theatre and the College of Arts, University of Canterbury, New Zealand.

www.famt.canterbury.ac.nz

The School of Fine Arts at the University of Canterbury provides a stimulating environment that allows students to flourish towards becoming artists.

Celebrating its 125th anniversary in 2007 the school is one of the oldest in Australasia. The school offers six studio areas (printmaking, photography, design, film, painting and sculpture) for the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree with BFA(Hons) and Master of Fine Arts at postgraduate level. The Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) is a four year degree combining practical studies in studio courses with a range of courses from the Arts.

Students work in purpose built studios supported by computer workrooms, darkrooms, a well appointed print workshop, and have access to the School of Fine Arts Campus Gallery and the SOFA Gallery at the Arts Centre in the city.

The University of Canterbury is located in Christchurch, which is in the South Island of New Zealand. Christchurch is a city of some 400,000 people and is noted for its temperate climate, garden like environment and tourist facilities. The city is well served by a major art gallery, museums, a symphony orchestra and, a variety of cafes and restaurants. The city is located within an hours drive of many ski fields and the Southern Alps National Parks and wilderness areas.
